Let me introduce myself After some professional experiences as an university teacher and as volunteer in a cultural association (which included translation jobs on a voluntary basis, I created my activity as a translator and language teacher. Translation is, for me, the art of building bridges between languages, cultures and countries. I work as a freelance translator and language teacher since 2006, in a free salarait status, and then I created my own small business in 2008.
